

REDS PUSH NAZIS BACK ON 340-MILE FRONT

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

KARL ZEPPELIN, Hitlerian air expert, has exposed to his public the undraped fact that the Nazi retreats on the Russian front make it possible for the Red air fleet to attack cities within the Reich, and the German man-in-the-street, who belly aches to be worried by fresh disaster would indeed be heaped on the Fuehrer if the Muscovite bombers should start heavy riding of eastern Germany in conjunction with the Allied assault from the west and south. Thus far this part of the Reich has been comparatively free of intensive bombing, because of its distance from American and British air bases. Consequently Hitler depends greatly on that area for his war production.

The Germans have plenty of reason for being fearful of death coming out of the eastern skies. The fact that the Russians haven't embarked on a wholesale bombing of the German man-in-the-street, doesn't mean they lack air power. On the contrary they possess great strength, but ever since the beginning of the war they've been using their warplanes for the titanic hand battles on the long eastern fighting front.

Several of these engagements are under way now. Marshal Stalin having announced a fresh offensive in the Ukraine last night. The Red armies are making a furious onslaught to cut German Marshal Von Manstein off and either annihilate his forces batter him down into the creter of the Balkan volcano.

So long as this intensive fighting continues, the Red likely will want to concentrate their air power on the battle-front. However, an early spring already has turned the Steppes into lakes of mud which greatly impedes of the Red. By April it's possible that there will be a great slackening off of fighting for several weeks, though it's unsafe to assume this in view of the way military traditions are being shattered.

However, if there's a lull it presumably will permit the Russians to participate in the reduction of Hitler's strength by bombing. The Muscovites keep the figures of their aerial strength to themselves, but we know they are capable of hurling a great force at the Nazis as witness their recent attacks on the Poles. Certainly the Red fleet may be expected to do intensive bombing of German bases and communications in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Moscow approves of the Anglo-American air drive against Germany, but it's interesting to have Lt. General Boris Sterligov remind the Allies again through the newspaper Red Star that Hitler won't fall by bombing alone. It will be, says the general, by the "active operations of a land army of many millions in cooperation with air and sea forces."

COLLETT CASE GOES TO JURY LATER TODAY

State Brands Alleged Slayer McCoy Family as Professional Killer

By GEORGE J. KIENZLE
WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, March 10.—The state, closing its case against James W. Collett, demanded today a jury send to his death "this self-appointed executioner" who "has the steel nerves of a professional killer."

In a dramatic hour, Simon Leis summed up the prosecution's case against the accused slayer of Elmer McCoy and his family, and then, striding down upon the flushed 60-year old hog breeder, shouted:

"I say to you Collett, you went too far. Man, when you killed Elmer McCoy, why didn't you stop? Remember little Mildred. Perhaps she, a little pigtailed girl, sat on your knee."

Mrs. Collett, sitting by her husband, wept bitterly as Leis shouted and whispered, gesticulated and pointed. Her hands trembled and tears washed down her face. Collett, nervous, grew red; and their son, Thomas, stared constantly at the floor.

Would Exclude Mercy
"The state of Ohio," Leis thundered, "is going to ask you on verdict—murder in the first degree, and we are specifically going to ask you to withhold the recommendation of mercy."

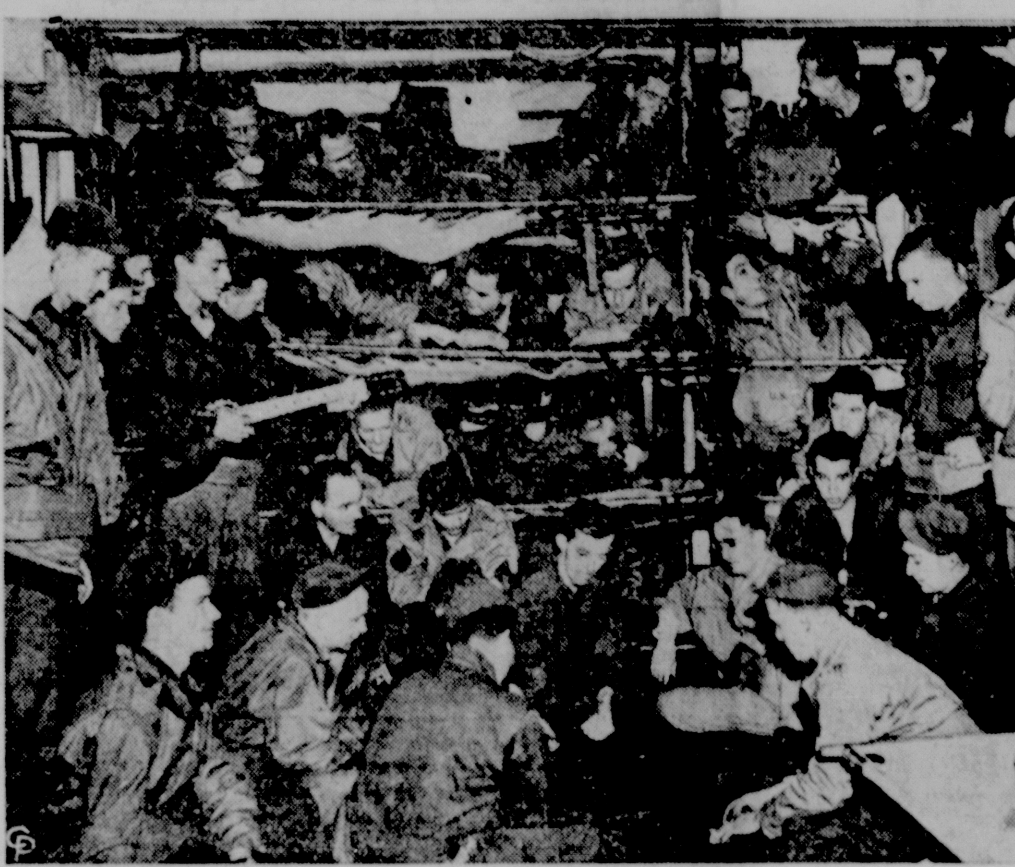

He traced the trial's testimony, coming to Collett's assertion that his confession of killing McCoy was put in his mouth, that he was misquoted.

"He got on that witness stand and told that impossible story, that he was the victim of a frameup," Leis said. "He's trying to crucify every public official connected with this case. Who lied on this witness stand? None other than this defendant."

He told of the hunters who came upon the bodies of McCoy, Mrs. McCoy and Mildred at their farm home last Thanksgiving day. "They saw a scene," Leis said, "that would cause any man to throw up his hands in horror. There was a young girl shot in the back of the head without a chance. On the porch was an elderly woman, not shot once by this vicious killer, but half a dozen times. Not certain he had killed her, he bent over her and buried into her brain the final shot. You talk about execution. This self-appointed executioner of the family of Elmer McCoy has the steel nerves of a professional killer. The defense goes so far as to accuse innocent people in order to save the worthless life of that defendant."

$22,800 RAISED FOR RED CROSS

Contributions of Plant Employees Helps Swell Campaign Total

Contributions from employees of 18 industrial plants have brought the "Save the Red Cross fund" to $22,800. Chairman Albert R. Hanna announced today.

The management of one concern made a $3,000 gift and another gave $1,000, the chairman reported. Many other firms have increased their donations of previous years, recognizing the increased need this year.

Individual donors must increase their gifts, however, if the lagging drive is to bring in the quota of $32,000 for the city, set as the minimum share in the national campaign, workers point out. Those who have already given are asked to make an additional pledge or gift.

Charles Fox, shop committee chairman, announced the following contributions to date by employees of local plants:

Lecture With Sky War Films At Town Hall Next Thursday

Paul Manning

Paul Manning, CBS correspondent who flew with the American Eighth Air force on a number of its operational missions, has brought back to the United States two reels of film which he will use in conjunction with his lecture at the Salem Town Hall meeting next Thursday night in the High school auditorium.

One, entitled "Flying Forts Finish First Year Over Europe," shows the big Boeing bombers and their crews—American boys from every state in the Union and from every walk of life: Bombardier Dewey Johnson, former Georgia school teacher; Sgt. Thompson, a Cherokee Indian from Oklahoma; Capt. Bender of North Carolina, who has had several planes shot out from under him and now flippantly calls his present craft Spook; Major Gus Pyle of Texas... he and his crew, on one mission alone, won two distinguished service crosses, seven silver stars and eight purple hearts—which gives you some idea of the kind of job they turned in on that particular raid.

This picture, with an introduction by Gen. Ira Eaker, who, until his recent transfer to the Mediterranean theatre, was in command of the Eighth Air force, is a 16mm. film with sound—the roar of the bombers as they take off, comments by the crews, final instructions by the officers to their men.

As Manning says, "Nobody on the ground can understand how these boys feel and think. You have to fly with them to learn that."

But you do get some idea of the pressing peril of every mission and how the men react to it when one boy hops out of a Fortress and with a grin gets down on his knees and kisses terra firma.

The second film is a compilation of bombing missions... American

BRITISH, U. S. FORCES JOIN MARSHAL TITO

Berlin Radio Says Commandos, Led by Gen. Churchill, Invade Lissa

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, March 10.—The Berlin radio said today that British and American Commandos under the command of "A British general with the name of Churchill" had landed on Lissa island off the Dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia.

There was no confirmation here of the landing, but it was widely believed in London that the German broadcast was talking about Capt. Randolph Churchill, son of Prime Minister Churchill, who is reported to have gone to Yugoslavia presumably dropping by parachute.

The broadcast said Churchill, son of the British prime minister, had taken command of Allied troops on the island, but it remained to be seen whether his forces would include 2,000 followers of Marshal Tito (Josip Broz) there.

Conferred With Tito
Young Churchill recently conferred with Marshal Tito, presumably after he parachuted into Yugoslavia. The Berlin broadcast identified him as "a British general with the name of Churchill," but there was no doubt here that Berlin was talking about the prime minister's son. There was no immediate confirmation of the landing report.

Churchill, 32, was the first member of parliament to become a paratrooper. The Allies have been giving aid to Tito's partisans, but there has been no official announcement of the presence of British Commando or American Ranger troops in Yugoslavia.

Berlin said "there are several American and British commandos (at Lissa) under the command of Gen. Churchill, comprising a total strength of about 1,500 men."

"These detachments are probably designed to secure the island as a supply base and to guard American and British supplies located on the island on behalf of the Tito bands in southeast Europe."

As these troops are solely comprised of single formations, so-called Commando raids must be expected at some points on the Dalmatian coast and on Dalmatian islands.

"These raids are of only small military value, but can well be exploited for reasons of propaganda, particularly toward Tito bands which, during the last few weeks, have complained about the lack of British and American support."

Lieut. Beck Flies Plane Back After Pilot Is Killed

Lieut. Robert O. Beck of Salem, although wounded, piloted a B-26 medium Marauder bomber safely back to its base in England after the pilot, Lieut. J. M. Carlson of Rhode Island, had been killed during a combat mission over Germany.

As a result of the action, Lieut. Beck, who was co-pilot on the plane at the time, has been awarded the Purple Heart medal.

Details of the incident which occurred Feb. 8 were received today by the officer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lerin A. Beck of R. D. 4, Salem, and the pilot's wife, Mrs. Jacqueline Beck of 1281 Maple st.

Lieut. Beck, who graduated from Goshen High school at Damascus in 1940, was employed as a cost accountant by the Mullins Mfg. Corp. prior to his entrance into the Army Air Corps May 21, 1942.

He received his "wings" Feb. 6, 1943, at Station, Calif., and left for overseas duty July 23, 1943.

DNEIPER BEND IS HELD LOST FOR GERMANS

Soviet Troops Now Using Horses to Overcome Mud In Ukraine Offensive

By EDDY GUMORE
MOSCOW, March 10.—The Red army took to horses in the deepening mud of the Ukraine today as the offensives of Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov rolled the Germans back on a 340-mile long front from the streets of Tarnopol to the outer defenses guarding the Black sea ports of Nikolae and Kherson.

It is fully apparent the last Nazis are being chased from the southwestern corner of the Soviet union, but only under tremendous difficulties, from front line dispatches to the Moscow newspapers Red Star and Izvestia said. They reported the whole area was one great inland sea of mud and water.

The German garrison in Odessa was said to be feeling the pressure of the growing offensives as remnants of battered German divisions commenced falling back upon Nikolae, Kherson and the outposts of Odessa, where only speedy evacuation can save thousands of Nazis from entrapment.

From the Third Ukrainian front commanded by Malinovsky came reports emphasizing the use of cavalry and small groups of infantry with light mortars.

Have Lost Dnieper Bend
Red Star dispatches said bluntly the German retreat had become "disorganized."

The Nazis were still holding one escape route westward from the Dnieper bend—the railway running from Novo Ukraine and Ponomashyna just below Kirovograd to Pervomaisk, from where two lines run west to Slobodskaya and Rudnitsa on the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway.

But strategically the Germans have lost the Dnieper bend and their purpose now is to see what they can save in men and equipment.

Zhukov, dispatches said, appeared intent on consolidating his forces along the Odessa-Warsaw railway. His newest thrusts, following capture yesterday of Staro-Konstantinov and the Kazatin region, apparently are aimed at filling out the sector southeast of the junction town of Proskurov.

Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian army, in four days of intensive fighting, routed nine German divisions and captured Novl Bug and Zbrozhan, respectively 33 and 40 miles above Nikolae, and Kazanka, 17 miles northeast of Novi Bug.

Eight thousand Germans were killed and 1,000 captured in this advance, the Russian communique asserted.

Zhukov's right wing made short work of the Tarnopol defenses, advances indicated. Previously reported nine miles from that key rail junction on the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway, Red army infantry, buttressed by tank units, swept over enemy lines, "burst into the town and engaged the enemy in street fighting," the Moscow bulletin said.

Irvin S. Cobb Dies In New York Hotel

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 10.—Irvin S. Cobb, 67, humorist and writer, died today at his Hotel Sheraton apartment after a long illness.

Cobb had been ill for the past three months suffering from a series of complications including dropsy. At his bedside when the end came was his wife.

Grantland Rice, sports writer and friend of the family, who announced the death, said the funeral would be private but that further plans had not been made.

Girl Scouts Will Observe Seventh Birthday Sunday

The city's 259 Girl Scouts and their 124 adult members will celebrate the seventh anniversary of their organization Sunday, in conjunction with the Girl Scout 32nd world anniversary next week.

Adult leaders and workers and parents of the girls will attend services at the churches sponsoring the individual troops. Pastors have prepared special commemorative addresses for the observance.

A feature of the anniversary program will be the annual Girl Scout Play day at the High school, where awards will be made to scouts and leaders. Every troop will participate in the exercise.

The annual Girl Scout organization dinner will be held at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at the Lake hotel for council leaders, council committees and troop committee leaders.

Local Girl Scouting is directed by Mrs. D. C. Rosing, executive secretary, who has had special training at the Minneapolis scouting center. She recently completed additional training in scout work at Roanoke, Va.

Since the organization of the first group here in June, 1937 and the formation of the first local council in March, 1940, Girl Scout work has expanded in such strides that organizations and workers have been seriously taxed to handle the activities demanded by younger girls anxious to become members.

Seven troops have become 12, including four Brownie troops for girls under the scout age minimum, two senior troops and six for intermediate girls.

One hundred and thirty-eight Girl Scouts have served 2,772 hours in many branches of community service.

ASK CITIZENS SELL GUNS TO AID ALLIES

Salem citizens were given a new opportunity today of helping speed an Allied victory over Germany, by selling extra pistols or revolvers which they might have around their homes to an authorized procurement officer who is being aided locally by Police Chief Ralph Stoffer.

The weapons turned in at the Salem police station will be shipped overseas and dropped by parachute over occupied Europe for use by Allied sympathizers against the Nazis before and during the time of the Allied invasion.

Weapons sought include any automatic pistol, 22 to 45 calibre, regardless of make, and 38 and 45 Colt or Smith and Weston automatic revolvers.

Capt. Clarke will inspect all guns turned in and will write out checks for those accepted. To date he has toured 15 large Ohio cities and purchased more than 1,000 weapons.

OPA Price Survey Will Begin Monday

Ten popular market-basket foods, including items of meat, canned goods and dry groceries will be checked in the price of survey of retail stores, which begins Monday morning, it was disclosed today by the District Office of Price Administration.

The list will include some meat and poultry items and at least three articles of canned goods, according to Clinton M. Fiske, OPA district director. Selling prices of these items will be checked against the legal ceiling prices in every one of the 19 counties of northeastern Ohio, Fiske said.

Final training sessions are being held this week with the price panels and price panel associates in each of the 69 local War Price and Rationing boards throughout the district. These volunteer price panel workers, assisted by the paid clerks of the ration boards where necessary, will conduct the store survey as a part of a nationwide price checker ordered by OPA Administrator Chester Bowles. In many cases board chairmen and other board members will do part of the actual checking.

BETWEEN TWO WARS

Price Administrator Bowles is on safe debating ground when he claims price control has saved the people an enormous sum of money, but his flat comparisons of existing price levels and the inflationary levels of World War I are open to honest doubt.

Aside from such obvious differences as the vastly greater scale of the United States war effort this time, there is an intangible difference of popular mood. Except for isolated exceptions, it is doubtful whether there would have been, even without price control, a repetition of the $20 silk shirt psychology which gripped the United States during the boom of World War I. The easy-come-easy-go thinking of those days was made tragic and ridiculous in the years that followed.

Between two wars, Americans learned that a war boom was not a national spree, but a challenge to their common sense. The worldwide depression and revolutions and counter-revolutions which came in the wake of the first of the great international wars taught them that war's grimness no longer could be confined to the warriors and their families; that war was international sickness and the potential dissolution of the people's security.

Not all the people learned, perhaps not even a majority, but enough of them sensed the relationship between the waste of war and their own threatened security to feel called upon to take extra precautions. They have been aided by price control, which was mandatory on government under the circumstances, but to claim that they did not, in turn, aid price control by their own attitude is to ignore the people's ability to learn from their own hard experiences.

TIPPING OFF AN ATTITUDE

The legislative backlash on the service vote bill which representatives and senators are trying to untangle has revealed something more important in the long pull than the complications of holding a national election with millions of voters in foreign lands.

Probably no function of citizenship is surrounded with more laws and regulations than voting. Any move to change voting provisions is bound to run head-on into questions of constitutionality, unless so devised and handled that constitutional objections are answered in advance.

Yet, tempted by the thought of "polling service voters the easy, advantageous way, there were public officials willing to forget all about the constitutional objections—perhaps not even taking the trouble to find out what the constitutional problems were.

When the service vote hubbaloob finally settles down to its essential terms—how to adjust election laws to the circumstances of an unprecedented election—it may appear that the most important thing that happened was the attitude tipped off by the contention that the way to do it was just to pass a law and worry about the constitutional objections if and when someone else raised them.

OFF THE FORM SHEET

The emotional impulse in partisan politics causes some strange deductions to be drawn from the form sheets. There is the further handicap that the form sheets, themselves, are subject to error.

Still, if an objective appraisal is possible on the basis of recent special elections, including the one this week in Colorado's first district where Republicans captured a formerly Democratic seat in congress, it would indicate the Democratic party is feeling the adverse effects of 11 years of policies never fully accepted by more than a tenuous majority of voters.

What this may indicate as to the outcome of the presidential election is problematic; other factors may complicate the issue there. It does indicate, however, that in the people's decisions at the federal level closest to them—the selection of members of congress—they are in a mood to challenge the present majority.

Off the form sheet so far, a Republican majority in the next house of representatives is a virtual certainty.

FIGHTING COMBINATIONS

A further aspect of the daylight fighting-bombing raids over Germany by the United States Air force is emerging now. While the strategic plan still calls for destroying the German war potential at its industrial sources, it is being combined progressively with the tactical plan of destroying German fighting planes. It is as though the bombers continued to hit German war industry in the midriff, cutting down its will and ability to fight, while their gunners and the accompanying fighter planes were preparing the opening for the final knockout.

United States heavy bombers and their fighter escorts now being used in the raids are fighting as well as bombing combinations. The Germans understand that perfectly by this time, yet here at home it continues to be the impression that the sole object is demolition; that the fighting to and from the targets is a net loss to the attacking force.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, March 11

THIS DAY may be memorable for a sudden and unexpected descent upon routine affairs of an event at once adventurous, romantic, progressive, as well as dramatic and thrilling. It may come with whirlwind force and land one on his feet in some far distant place or in strange surroundings, with new associates, fresh ideas, and plans and programs quite out of the ordinary. This exceptional state of affairs call for much sound judgment and discretion and not impetuosity, emotional excitement or other unrestrained activities. Keep calm and circumspect.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which the exceptional, extraordinary and not anticipated may materialize, with sudden and breath-taking activity. High adventure, romance, new contacts and associations, as well as fresh fields of operation, brilliant ideas and unusual programs. All this enlivening the personal as well as business and intellectual life, with dramatic situations and emotional thrills. But be prudent, self contained for best returns. A child born on this day should have many exceptional talents, with creative ability, scientific, inventive, assuring a romantic and adventurous career.

CAPITAL'S BIG STORM WAVES

WASHINGTON—It's too early to say with certainty, but it appears the breach between the President and Congress is being closed.

The conciliatory way in which the President met the Senate investigating committee's threat to cite his administrative assistant, Jonathan Daniels, for contempt for refusal to testify in the Rural Electrification Administration investigation, is a most important straw in the wind.

If the dramatic split between Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley and the President and the positive way Congress backed him up by over-riding the President's veto of the tax bill has cleared the air, it may be one of the most important things that has happened recently to our home front war effort.

Students of government here tell me the congressmen were as wrong in the Daniels case as they charged the President with being wrong in vetoing the tax bill. In one instance, it was claimed, the President was trying to dictate tax legislation, a constitutional prerogative of Congress. In the second, Congress was questioning the right of the President to remove an administrative appointee.

What is important isn't the charge involved in the REA case but that the President chose to ignore the implications behind the attitude of the senators. He told Daniels not only to go ahead and answer any questions asked him, but himself offered to discuss fully with the committee the allegation that Daniels, in conference with Harry Slattery, REA administrator, had requested the latter's resignation for purely political reasons.

If it is true, as some authorities on government say, that it's none of Congress' business if Daniels did, as long as he was acting on instructions from his chief, then the President was carrying mollification farther than he ever has before.

Why? Many reasons are given but most logical seem to be (1) that the President considers mollification of Congress vital to the public interest in prosecution of the war and is willing to go to great lengths right now to do it; (2) that for political reasons this is no time to have Congress on a rampage; (3) that he realizes now that in any continuing altercation with Congress, it's always Congress that wins.

That's because Congress is a permanent governmental institution, while the presidency is a succession of individuals. Regardless of his powers, even in wartime, a President is helpless in the face of an almost totally rebellious Congress. The only alternative for a President is to go to the polls, demanding a mandate from the voters to keep Congress in line. Few, if any, have ever succeeded in that. Even President Roosevelt couldn't succeed in 1938, when his congressional backers were much more numerous than today.

There still are rocky days ahead in the differences between Congress and the President, but if the handling of the Daniels case is really an indication, the breach is narrowing.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Uses of Penicillin and Sulfa Drugs

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I AM grateful that I have lived long enough to see a dream of my youth become a reality. When I was a medical student and young hospital interne we—my colleagues and I—used to speculate on some chemical which would enter the blood and kill off germs without injuring the body cells. Salvarsan, which came in my time, did the trick for syphilis, but the nearest we came to anything for ordinary germs was mercuriochrome, which we used to give for blood poisoning. It ended the lives of only about twice as many blood poison victims as would have gone ordinarily, and the experience made us suspicious.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions by general interest only, and then only through his column.

Sulfa Drugs
Then came the sulfa drugs with their overwhelming success in just this field, and now a new drug, penicillin, which seems to be in many ways even better than the sulfa drugs. It seems to me a great credit to the medical profession that right at the time they had found a germicidal drug which worked in vivo, when another came along they started with equal enthusiasm to go over all the same clinical investigations on the new one.

We were told a decade ago that no new medical discoveries would be made by accident—only by planned experiment—but the discovery of penicillin was an accident. In 1929 Dr. Alexander Fleming, a London bacteriologist, noticed that some of his plate cultures of the germ staphylococcus (the pus producer) were contaminated by a mold, and that on the plates where he held grew, the staphylococci did not grow. Following this up he identified the mold as Penicillium notatum and showed that on both cultures it displayed an inhibitory action on a number of germs both outside and inside the animal body.

Since then researches have advanced our knowledge of this product by leaps and bounds. A suitable method of making a potent extract was found, the proper strength, or dosage, of the drug was determined, its toxic, or dangerous aspects recorded, and its administration was found to be effective only if given by vein, or into the muscle, or topically applied to an open wound. The world generally does not realize how much of this preliminary spade work has to be done before a new preparation can be tried out clinically.

Kind of Infection
I know little about penicillin, even how to pronounce it, because it is not yet generally available for civilian practice, but many hospital centers of investigation have shown in what kinds of infections it is valuable. First come the pus infections with staphylococci. The sulfa drugs are effective against pneumonia germs (pneumococci) and streptococci, which cause certain kinds of blood poisoning, but not very effective against staphylococci. Now for staphylococci-boils, carbuncles, infected bone (osteomyelitis), middle ear disease and several other forms of staphylococcal infection, penicillin is an effective killer. For these it has been called bacterial dynamite.

WOODRUFF ADAPTED

LAWN SEED

In many locations the soils are too light and too poor to support the usual perennial varieties. Terraces require special attention. Other situations include areas for play, athletic contests and recreational activities. Still others are climatically unsuited to grow the common varieties of grass. In each case Woodruff Research has developed seed mixtures and turfs, and special methods of lawn care, for growing successful lawns on these difficult locations.

GOLD SEAL

TURF MAKER

A "Gold Seal" blend is a "different" mixture. Woodruff specifies that it must include over 97% Pure Seed and that it must contain at least 65% of permanent grasses adapted to the locality in which it is sold.

BEST LAWN RED SEAL

A "Red Seal" mixture is a shade-tolerant companion mixture to both Royal and Central States. As with all Red Seal mixtures, it is over 90% Pure Seed. The formula varies in adaptation to growing conditions throughout the country.

SHADY SPOT

Shady Spot is a serviceable blend which will produce good turf under shade. 40% of the seed content is shade-tolerant. If fed regularly, will afford a luxuriant sod. Like Bestlawn, over 90% pure seed.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."
"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally...whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys... simple as A-B-C."

GASOLINE DEALERS FACE SUSPENSION

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, March 10—The Office of Price Administration's district office today announced the start of suspension order proceedings against 50 retail gasoline stations in Cleveland, Youngstown, and Warren, O., and Sharon, Pa., in a "vigorous crackdown on counterfeiting of gasoline coupons."

Howard R. Hirsch, OPA enforcement attorney, said the stations were charged with "accepting and passing counterfeit coupons representing several hundred thousand gallons of gasoline."

Hearings will be held here Wednesday and Thursday next week for 11 Cleveland operators, and the two following days in Youngstown for other operators charged. The Warren operator listed by the OPA is the George C. Matheny and Son station (1283 E. Market).

Frederic S. Glover, Jr., regional hearings commissioner, will conduct the hearings, Hirsch said, adding "these stations face suspension for the duration of the war."

Asserting the filing of charges followed several weeks' investigation, Hirsch said investigators estimated that from 10 to 12 per cent of all coupons being taken in by gasoline stations in this district are counterfeit. "The district comprises 19 northern Ohio counties."

Bricker Reaffirms Pledge To Defeat New Dealism in U.S.

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, March 10—Division among party leaders is "the only thing that can prevent a Republican victory" at the polls this year, says Gov. John W. Bricker, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

"But as for me," Bricker said in an address last night, "I am personally more interested in defeating the New Deal and its absolutism than I am in being elected president of the United States."

The three-term Ohio governor, declaring "Democrats are coming into the Republican party by the millions," asserted the "basic issue of our time is whether one man or one party shall permanently regiment 130,000,000 Americans, or whether they shall continue to govern themselves through time-tested institutions of self government."

"Our American system was intended to be a government of and by laws. Under the New Deal it has become a government of and by men. During the past 11 years those in power in Washington have permitted this nation to be blown off its course by the winds of absolutism, emanating from Europe."

Bricker, who addressed the John Ericsson Republican league, suggested that "positive action" on four fronts is required "if this country is to purge itself one man or one party rule." He said "needless bureaucracy" must be eliminated through a new administration; policy making should be left to Congress; centralization of power in Washington must be ended, and the people must be "given the facts on every issue" so they can express their will.

Eight U. S. Soldiers Help Two Nazi Prisoners Flee

CAMP HALE, Colo., March 10—Military disclosures that five WACS exchanged notes with German war prisoners and that eight American soldiers helped two prisoners escape emerged today from investigation of the Germans' flight from Camp Hale with an accused traitor.

An Army announcement made clear, however, the notes were not linked with the escape of the Germans who were captured in Mexico Feb. 18 along with Pfc. Dale Maple, 23, of San Diego, Calif.

Maple, a camp guard, was charged with helping the prisoners flee on Feb. 15 and is being held for court martial on military charges similar to civil code treason.

Statements obtained from Maple, the announcement said, involved the other eight soldiers.

Bricker Reaffirms Pledge To Defeat New Dealism in U.S.

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, March 10—Division among party leaders is "the only thing that can prevent a Republican victory" at the polls this year, says Gov. John W. Bricker, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

"But as for me," Bricker said in an address last night, "I am personally more interested in defeating the New Deal and its absolutism than I am in being elected president of the United States."

The three-term Ohio governor, declaring "Democrats are coming into the Republican party by the millions," asserted the "basic issue of our time is whether one man or one party shall permanently regiment 130,000,000 Americans, or whether they shall continue to govern themselves through time-tested institutions of self government."

"Our American system was intended to be a government of and by laws. Under the New Deal it has become a government of and by men. During the past 11 years those in power in Washington have permitted this nation to be blown off its course by the winds of absolutism, emanating from Europe."

Bricker, who addressed the John Ericsson Republican league, suggested that "positive action" on four fronts is required "if this country is to purge itself one man or one party rule." He said "needless bureaucracy" must be eliminated through a new administration; policy making should be left to Congress; centralization of power in Washington must be ended, and the people must be "given the facts on every issue" so they can express their will.

Americans Fighting For Simple Things Of Life—Somervell

(By Associated Press)
FORT BELVOIR, Va., March 10.—What is the nation fighting for? For this, says Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, commanding general of the Army Service Forces:
"We fight for simple things, for the little things that are all-important. We fight for the right to lock our house doors and be sure that no bully with official sanction will break the lock.
"We fight for town meetings, for the soapbox in the public square, for the high school debating team, for open doors to cathedral and church and synagogue.
"We fight for the country editor and for the metropolitan daily and for the editor's right to say the wrong thing if he thinks it's right.

"We fight for the right to organize for any decent purpose; for labor; for employers; for the grange and the Legion and the ladies literary club and for lodge meetings in full regalia on Tuesday nights.
"We fight for our candidate for sheriff and for the other fellow's candidate for the right to be sorry we elected him and to say so.
"We fight for free radio, for the right to listen to what we want and to turn off what we don't want.
"We fight for the high privilege of throwing pop bottles at the umpire."
"For these things we fight," said Gen. Somervell in speech prepared for delivery today upon the anniversary of the Army Service Forces.
Approximately one million more babies were born in 1943 than in 1933, bottom year of the depression.

Theater

"None Shall Escape," which shows at the State tonight and Saturday, deals dramatically with the trials of Nazi and Fascist war leaders following the peace. The film is based on a book recording German treatment of Poles from Sept. 1, 1939, day of invasion, up to the present.
Marsha Hunt has the role of a Polish school teacher who was in love with Alexander Knox before he became a Nazi general. The story is completely realistic and gets its power from carefully dramatized characterizations and true incident piled upon true incident. Henry Travers and Erik Rolf have leading supporting roles.
A double bill, "The Underdog" and "Bordertown Gun Fighters," will be at the Grand tonight and Saturday.

ITALIAN FLEET DEAL CLARIFIED

British, U. S. Warships Go To Russia In Lieu of Captured Tonnage

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—President Roosevelt asserted today that what he and Prime Minister Churchill had said about disposition of the Italian fleet was correct, that no controversy could be made of it and that he would violate military security by discussing what vessels might go to various places.
Mr. Roosevelt spoke in response to a question at a press-radio conference whether there was anything further that might be said about the status of the Italian fleet since "considerable comment, controversy or discussion" has arisen.
The President announced a week ago that a third of the Italian fleet, or its equivalent, might be turned over to Russia.
Churchill told commons yesterday "the question of the future employment and disposal of the Italian fleet has been the subject of some discussion, and in particular consideration had been given to the immediate reinforcement of the Soviet navy either from Anglo-American or Italian resources." He said the question of ultimate disposal of Italian ships may not be settled until after the end of the war, and added that "at present no change is contemplated in the arrangements" whereby Italian ships and crews are operating against Germany.
Reason of Confusion
The full story of Italian fleet disposition indicates that most of the confusion and particularly the concern expressed by Premier Badoglio in Italy over what was to happen arose from the way in which the news was first made public.
At his press conference a week ago today President Roosevelt told questioners that roughly about one-third of the fleet or its equivalent was due Russia and that problems of arranging a transfer according to that formula were only about half solved.
At that time, it can now be reported, the problems had been under study by military authorities for several months. They were created in the first place by terms of the Italian surrender last September.
Sometime after the surrender, the Russians made an inquiry which was, in effect, "what about our share of the fleet."
At that time, it seemed likely Turkey would come into the war, Turkish belligerency probably would have resulted in clearing the eastern Mediterranean. That would have permitted the Russian-Italian ships to move into the Black sea where the Russians could have used them to great advantage.
Share of Tonnage
The disposition of Anglo-American staff chiefs then was to make an actual split of the Italian navy, leaving two-thirds in the Mediterranean and transferring the other third to Russia for the rest of the war. But as Turkish negotiations dragged, the fleet problem dragged with them and at various times came up for review.
As a result of continued study, the military leaders concluded best results would be had by keeping all the fleet in the Mediterranean and transferring to Russia an equivalent amount of British-American ships. Because of American productive capacity, it appears that most of the transferred ships will be of American origin.
Finally about two weeks ago Russian Ambassador Andrei Gromyko called on the President and asked again about the Russian share of the fleet. It was in comment on this diplomatic inquiry that the President last Friday broke the news that under the surrender terms Russia had a right to her share of Italian naval tonnage.

COLLETT CASE

He told of McCoy's body in the car, a cigar stub in his mouth, a tape of blood under him, a tape of a nearby. He had been measuring a space between the wall and a feeder. While in that position this sneaking criminal crawled upon him and got him in the back of the head. He went on. "He thought he was shrewder than the law—he almost escaped it but inside us all is a little fellow called conscience. All the time side of him a voice was saying, 'What did you do? Jim, you can't do that far.'"

And then Lela, turning from the car of nine men and three women, asked toward Collett, pointing a finger, shouting: "I say to you, Collett, you did go far."

KIWANIS MEMBERS SEE NAVY MOVIES

First Class Petty Officer Cliff Klot of the Navy recruiting office at Youngstown, presented two members of the WAVES in connection with a program at Kiwanis meeting yesterday noon at the Memorial building.

Motion pictures, "Chief Neely Reports to the Nation," depicting the WAVES training program, their work, the importance of their contribution to the war and the necessity for increased enlistment, and a film on sea-power, illustrating the training, life and work of navy personnel, completed the program.

Glenn Arnold was program chairman. Burrell Reeder was welcomed as an active member of the club.

A meeting of the vocational guidance committee, which includes B. J. Ludwig, Dr. C. J. Lehwald, C. W. Gaminsky, A. F. Kingsley and Byron Maxson, will be held at the Cape hotel Tuesday noon.

At a session of the board of directors following the club meeting, a report was presented by L. H. Polley on the finance committee's plans for the purchase of a series of War bonds for post-war purposes.

A program on social hygiene will be featured at next Thursday's meeting, with Albert R. Hanna as chairman.

Magazines, Candy Help Morale of Servicemen

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO—James B. Gilbert, Bethesda, Md., an American Red Cross field director just returned from Munda, New Georgia, says that magazines are so popular with the men that "they take them up to the front and read them in foxholes." Gilbert, with his two assistant field directors, Robert B. Dixon, Scranton, Pa., and Charles G. Blackwell, Memphis, Tenn., handed out 10,000 chocolate bars, 20,000 tubes of toothpaste and thousands of magazines to fighting men in one month. "Simple objects like these, which at home are taken for granted, mean an awful lot in the middle of battle. These commodities do more for the morale than just about anything else we do," Gilbert stated. Gilbert, formerly stationed at Ft. Ord, Calif., was commended by the commanding general of his installation "for the splendid spirit and efficient manner shown in conducting and organizing the Red Cross of his division."

THE RED CARNATION

by BURTON STEVENSON

SYNOPSIS
Anthony Bigelow, N. Y. Record columnist, is stalking gossip-news at the big town's famed cafe—a cave of wine-blown winds choosing who's doing what to whom: why, when, and where. He sees Jack McKibben, night clubman and broker, with the gayly alluring Mrs. Edgerton, and an unknown young beauty who seems scared. With ill-concealed jealousy, she tells the unknown's name is Leda. Tony talks briefly with Leda's lawyer, and then Leda Edgerton, celebrating the settlement of another heart-aim suit. The columnist relays to proprietor Max Riley "a tip that here'd be trouble here tonight" involving McKibben. Soon after, a stranger calls the broker "a swine" and is neatly ejected by Max'souncer-waiters. Leda slumped in her chair as though her legs had rumped under her.

CHAPTER THREE
Tony heard McKibben grumbling as he scowled after the back of his head. And then Lily Edgerton called him down and whispered something to him. "Mack" turned round and nodded to Tony and started a little unsteadily toward his table. Tony saw that, as usual, he had a white carnation in his buttonhole. Also that he was quite light, as he lowered himself into a chair.

Lily says you want to see me. Something important?
Not so very important. I just ben answered, but from his eyes Tony knew that he was lying. "Just some drunk. They put him out."

"I saw they did. And, do you know, Mack, I have hunch that one of these days somebody will put you out."
"He'll have to get the drop on me first," McKibben sneered. "Who do you think will try it?"

"Oh, it might be any one of a number of people," said Tony lightly. "It might be some fellow whose wife you've been playing around with, or some woman you've double-crossed."
"Just what do you mean?" McKibben demanded.
"You know what I mean," retorted Tony. "Lily is itching to take a shot at you this minute."
"Don't worry about Lily," McKibben grunted. "I'll look after her. Besides, I'm going away. This town makes me sick."
"It's not quite as healthy for brokers as it used to be," Tony agreed. "Havana might suit you better."
"Havana!" McKibben echoed. "It's Monte Carlo for me, next."
"Well," Tony suggested with sarcasm, "wherever you go, don't rob a cradle. It isn't done."
McKibben looked at him, and gradually a wide grin spread across his face.
"So that's it," he said. "Lily told me you were acting sort of curious about my new girl. You won't get anywhere, take it from me. But just to show you there're no hard feelings, I'll give you some news for that nose column of yours."
"What is it?"
"Lily's starting for Reno in the morning."
"I wouldn't call that news exactly," Tony commented. "You going to marry her?"
"Who, me?"
"But you and Lily..."
"I find my taste is changing," and McKibben grinned again. "I'm beginning to have yen for the young. Must be I'm getting old."

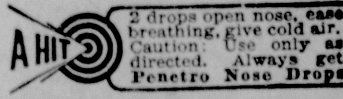

A man had loomed suddenly before McKibben and rasped, "You swine!"
wanted to advise you to take care of yourself."
McKibben's glance was suddenly intent. Then he looked quickly around the room.
"Thanks," he grunted. "I will."
"Who was that fellow called you a swine just now?"
"Never saw him before," McKib-

A man had loomed suddenly before McKibben and rasped, "You swine!"

"I don't believe you'll have a chance to get much older," said Tony. "And since you're so fond of carnations, I suppose I'll have to send a bunch to put on the coffin."
"That's sweet of you, Tony! Be sure they're white ones."
"Why do you always wear a white carnation, Mack?" Tony asked.
"You'd never guess. Known anything about the language of flowers?"
"I don't know what the carnation means."
"It means pride, disdain," McKibben informed him. "And white, of course, is for innocence. Hence my affinity for it." He wagged his head triumphantly and pulled himself to his feet. "I've got to be getting back or there'll be an assassination at my table. Beautiful maiden slain by jealous divorcee."
"You've got it wrong," said Tony. "It's a crooked stockbroker who is going to be slain." But McKibben only kept on grinning and lumbered back to his place.
Tony, looking after him, composed another paragraph in his head:
Reno not Rhino:—Lily Edgerton starts today for Reno on the usual quest. Whether husband Reinhardt—commonly known as "Rhino" because of his size, callosity and other characteristics—will contest the case, deponent sayeth not. "Not" is probably right.
He saw that McKibben did not sit down at his table, but leaned over and said something to the two women, and then called a waiter and asked for his check. A moment later the party had left the restaurant.
Tony looked after them gloomily.

"I don't think so. But he had something heavy in the side pocket of his overcoat. I noticed it when he got out of the cab."

Women Bowlers Open Handicap Tournament Next Tuesday

SHARE SPOTLIGHT WITH MEN DURING TOURNAMENT PLAY

List $152 In Cash Prizes For Various Events On Masonic Alleys

Women bowlers will share the spotlight with the men in tournament play the next two weeks as the Salem women's annual city tournament holds forth at the Masonic temple while the men's city association is in tournament action on the Bowling Center alleys.

The women's handicap tournament will get under way next Tuesday night with the team event, which will be concluded Wednesday night. Doubles and singles will be rolled Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Sixteen teams, 33 sets of doubles and 59 singles are in the entry lists. The teams are three short of last season's entry, due to the fact that the Women's International Bowling Congress rules do not permit any bowler to roll on more than one team in tournaments.

Handicap is 60 per cent of the difference between the bowler's average and scratch, which is 170. Actual pins only are counted in the all-events totals. In case of a tie for first place in any event, three extra games will be rolled to determine the winner.

Cash prizes total $152 for the various events and medals will be given to winners of each event.

The team event offers $14 for first place, six places, total $50; doubles, $9 first place, eight places, total $18.51; singles, $8 each for first and second places, seven places, total $34.31; all events $7 first place, four places, total $15.48; high individual with handicap, first $3, second $2.

Next week's team events schedule follows:

6:45 p. m. Tuesday
1-2—Pinneys and Sanitary; 3-4—Bankettes and Mullins.
8:45 p. m. Tuesday
1-2—Schwartz and Salem China; 3-4—Firestones and Coys.
6:45 p. m. Wednesday
1-2—Endres-Groves and Hansells; 3-4—Gema and Eagles.
8:45 p. m. Wednesday
1-2—Salem News and Warks; 3-4—Hillside and Bowling Center.

BILLY HERMAN IN NAVY; BROOKLYN'S HOPES GROW DIM

Deacon Branch Rickey Also Discloses Loss of Pitched Ed Head

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 10.—With infielder Billy Herman sailing away to join the Navy and Pitcher Ed Head marching off in a soldier suit, the Brooklyn Dodgers' National League pennant aspirations have suffered a severe setback almost on the eve of their first spring training drills.

Deacon Branch Rickey broke the news to the Gowanus faithful yesterday and added that Pitcher Bill Lohman had informed him he would take his Army physical next Monday.

Herman, the cornerstones of the infield, told Rickey he had been accepted for service and soon would be in the Navy and Head wrote from Shreveport, La., he had been examined and accepted by the Army.

The Brooks have 18 experienced men definitely set to open camp at Bear Mountain, N. Y., next Wednesday and 15 others in the "doubtful" class.

Other news from the baseball front included:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
BOSTON—Bob Quinn has discovered that he "gave" Columbus $7,500 for Outfielder Chet Wleczorek. He has learned the player when he drafted from the American Association club is in the army.

PHILADELPHIA—With signing of Outfielder Buster Adams, the Blue Jays report 16 in the fold. Herb Pennock announced signing of George Gerdaskie, 18-year-old Bethlehem, Pa., high school boy, to be sent to the Bradford, Pa., farm in the Pony league.

CHICAGO—First Baseman Phil Cavaretta informed club officials that he has been called up for army physical today at Milwaukee. If Cavaretta is accepted, the Cubs will have to depend on either Heinz Becker or the veteran, Jimmie Fox.

BROOKLYN—In addition to the news of Herman, Head and Lohman, Rickey announced that Lloyd Waner had been reinstated and that he had given permission to Catcher Mickey Owen to stay at his Springfield, Mo., farm during the early days of the training season.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
ST. LOUIS—Outfielder Frank Demaree, recently released by the Cardinals, signed by the Browns.
CHICAGO—Outfielder Thurman Tucker announced he had passed his physical examination and Pitcher Al Epperly, acquired in the baseball draft, said he would either stay on his farm or be in the armed service. Pitchers John Harvey and Charles Graumann and Outfielder Patcher Ed Carnett signed contracts.

DETROIT—Pitchers Hal Newhouse and Zeb Eaton took part in early training workout at Evansville, Ind., in freezing weather.

PHILADELPHIA—Athletics reported 25 signed and only two holdouts. Outfielder Bill Burgo and Pitcher Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin. Connie Mack said Bobo Newton not considered holdout as he was just seeing if he could get in shape to pitch.

Washington Round-up

News and Views. Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—The Democrats have lent support to a Republican proposal to screen political propaganda from news sent to the troops. Sen. Bridges (R-NH) proposed that a two or four-man committee with bi-partisan membership be set up to scan Army and Navy news output.
Said Sen. Lucas (D-Ill):
"I'm for a commission or anything that will give the troops honest, fair information about the candidates, regardless of who they are. I don't want anyone to have any advantage."

OPA CONTINUANCE
Continuance of the Office of Price Administration (OPA) in its present form was threatened by new perils today as some senators readied themselves for attacks on food subsidies and prepared to seek enactment of the ban as an amendment to the OPA extension bill.
Price Administrator Bowles was scheduled to meet with members of the senate banking committee today and even before the meeting he seemed resigned to OPA changes—"some of them very crippling and some of them very damaging."

TAXPAYER
Guess who's having trouble with his income tax? President Roosevelt, the Hyde Park tree grower. Does he have the help of treasury wizards, tax primers, 50-cent booklets; No. He's doing it all by himself and at a given hour for the last three days, his desk has been piled high with forms. Seems he's having some difficulty over entering of rents collected from some bungalows but he expects to have it in by March 15 and avoid delinquency fines.

SERG. MYERS GIVES TALK IN LEETONIA

LEETONIA, March 10.—Tech. Sergt. Carl W. Myers, U.S.M.C., of Fairfield township was guest speaker at the assembly Wednesday morning at the High school building.

Myers, who has a president's citation badge, three stars for three major battles, and a star for enlistment before Pearl Harbor, gave an interesting talk on his experiences in the Southwest Pacific where he served for 17 months.

Mrs. Katherine Mosier entertained friends at her home Wednesday evening with two tables of "500" in play.

Mrs. C. Eldon Heit, Jr., entertained contract bridge club associates Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin S. Fire attended the capping exercises at Youngstown City hospital Wednesday evening where their daughter, Miss Anita Stewart, and Miss Dorothy Jean Fire, are student nurses.

Aids Hothouse Tomato

MADISON, Wis.—Give the hothouse tomato plant a shot in the blossom and it produces earlier and more often. In the University of Wisconsin greenhouses, R. H. Roberts and Esther Struckmeyer experimented with various chemicals and found betanaphthoxy acetic acid when sprayed on the clusters of tomato blossoms made them bear fruit faster.

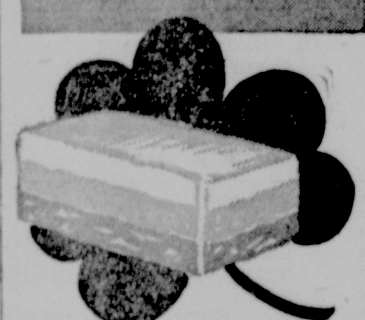

About one out of every 100 of the blue-green molds often found in the kitchen belongs to the penicillin species from which the wonder healing drug is made.

Mrs. Steer Hostess To Winona W.C.T.U.

WINONA, March 10.—The Winona W. T. C. U. met with Mrs. Wilson Steer Wednesday afternoon for the March meeting. Mrs. E. C. Holloway had the devotion.
Mrs. Lowell Whinery had charge of the following program: Roll call, favorite poem; reading, Mrs. Earl Ruble, "There Is No Question About Chickens Coming Home to Roost" by William McDermott. Mrs. Sina Megrall head extracts from the Union Signal; playlet, "On a Street Corner," Mrs. Sina Megrall and Mrs. E. C. Holloway; poem, "I Am Peace," read by Mrs. Wilson Steer and reading, "Climb Higher," Mrs. Lowell Whinery.

The April meeting will be held with Mrs. Earl Ruble, with Mrs. O. F. Sidwell in charge of the program.

Couple Wed 25 Years
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berger were recently honored at evening gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Johnson in Salem celebrating

REMEMBER TO GIVE To the RED CROSS

Italy's

Mr. and Mrs. Berger's 25th wedding anniversary.
Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cameron of Damascus and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Howell of Salem were among the guests.
The hostess served a lunch. The honorees received a bouquet of flowers and other gifts.
Make Surgical Dressings
The surgical dressing class meets Wednesday evening at the Methodist church basement from 1 until 10 p. m. The advisors urge a large attendance next Wednesday evening, March 15.
Mrs. Latha Kneodler and Mr.

and Mrs. Calvin Harris of Canton were Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Whinery.
Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Hall, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Leeland Thomas of Adena, who has been visiting in their home, left Thursday for a visit with relatives at Adena and Harrisville.
E. Y. Gamble spent Wednesday in Columbus on business.
Soldiers Overseas
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loudon have received word that their son, Pfc. Robert Loudon, has arrived safely overseas.
Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Gray have received word that their son, Corp.

Howard Gray, has arrived in England.
Relatives have received word of the birth of a daughter, Carol Anne, to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Joelyn of Auburn, N. Y., on March 7. Mrs. Joelyn is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Oliphant and is the former Miss Anne Stratton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Barclay Stratton.
